

Steve was born and raised in the Camden-Wyoming area. A graduate of Caesar Rodney High School in 2005, he has always been fond of his local community. In 2012, Steve and his wife Jamie decided that it was time to purchase their first home, and they could not find a better place to live than the quaint town of Wyoming. After moving to Wyoming, Steve and Jamie quickly fell in love with the town residents and the small town charm that Wyoming offers.

In 2009, Steve started his career with the Delaware Department of Correction where he promoted to the rank of Lieutenant. Steve was an active member of Delaware Law Enforcement for Special Olympics and volunteered at numerous local Special Olympics events. In 2014, Steve and his wife Jamie welcomed their first child, Olivia, into the world. As a new father he had a growing desire to become more involved in his local community, so he went back to school to become a teacher where he could better serve his local community.

Steve started his career in the education field as a paraprofessional at John S. Charlton where he was later hired as a Special Education teacher. Steve is very active in his community and serves as an assistant football and wrestling coach at Caesar Rodney High School. Along with his passion for the youth he serves, Steve also has a strong passion to see the Town of Wyoming flourish.

Recently, Steve has had a growing desire to become more in tune with his local government and began attending Wyoming Town Hall meetings. Steve became very disappointed in the direction that the Town of Wyoming was heading so he decided to once again step up and become part of the solution. As Mayor of Wyoming, Steve will be dedicated to representing his constituents with pride, integrity, and the utmost level of professionalism. As your next Mayor, Steve will work closely with town residents, business owners, and Town Council to improve our community.
